

Delimiting Aristotle's Science of Nature

Friday-Saturday, 21-22 November 2008
817 R Cathedral of Learning
Center for Philosophy of Science
University of Pittsburgh

Friday, 21 November 2008

- 2:00-2:30    Opening Remarks
Delimiting Aristotle's Science of Nature
James Lennox, University of Pittsburgh
- 2:30-4:00    Session I
Between First and Second Philosophy
Robert Bolton, Rutgers University
- 4:00-4:15    Coffee
- 4:15-5:45    Session II
Concept Formation in Mathematics and Natural Science
Greg Salmieri, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
- 6:00-7:00    Reception
- 7:00-9:00    Dinner

Saturday, 22 November 2008

- 8:30-9:00    Continental Breakfast
- 9:00-10:30    Session III
Beyond Natural Teleology?
Mariska Leunissen, Washington University, St. Louis
- 10:30-10:45    Coffee
- 10:45-12:15    Session IV
Natural Science and the Practical Syllogism
Klaus Corcilius, Humboldt University, Berlin
Concordia University, Montreal (Visiting)
- 12:15 -2:00    Lunch
- 2:00-3:30    Session V
Between Theoretical Natural Science and Practical (Ethical) Science
Devin Henry, University of Western Ontario
- 3:30-3:45    Coffee
- 3:45-5:30    Summary Session
Looking Forward
Andrea Falcon, Concordia University, Montreal
University of Pittsburgh (Visiting)
- 7:30            Closing Banquet at the Lennox house, catered by the Mighty Oak Barrel

Program Committee

James Lennox,
University of Pittsburgh
Andrea Falcon,
Concordia University, Montreal
University of Pittsburgh (Visiting)

Sponsors

The Center for Philosophy of Science,
University of Pittsburgh
Classics, Philosophy, and Ancient Science Program,
University of Pittsburgh

