

HAIKU by Gerald J. Massey

Haiku #1

Love struck me blindly
Like the stone thrown by the boy
Whom I only heard.

Haiku #2

The pale winter sun
Warmed the back of my neck
In apology.

Haiku #3

The pitiless cat
Revels hunting in the snow
But the mouse laments.

Haiku #4

Blankets of darkness
Spread by the winter solstice
Over sheets of snow.

Haiku #5

Winter strives to dress
Her bedraggled battalions
In clean uniforms.

Haiku #6

Bright Mayflowers bloom
On piles of stinking cow-shit,
Garnish for dung-flies.
